

Founded in 2010, The Clink Charity runs hospitality training programmes in around a third of UK prisons.

We train approximately 800 people in prison each year, providing them with City & Guilds qualifications and a full Help, Guidance and Rehabilitation service post-release, for as long as our trainees require it.

---

This approach, coupled with supporting our students into paid employment via our network of employers, is proven to reduce reoffending and help people rebuild their lives.

60% of our students were supported into employment over the past 2 years.

MOJ's 2022 report found that the reoffending rate by the Clink was as much as 50% lower when compared on a like-for-like basis
